Reading rooms and places

We have 444 reading places distributed as follows:

- Open Access Reading Room: 276 places; 14 computers to access the Internet.
- Reference Room: 120 places; 10 computers just intended for searching the library catalogue.
- Journal Reading Room: 48 places to consult recent issues of journals.
- 2 Group Study Rooms: each sitting up to 8 people.

Collections and codes

The library's collection is comprised of monographs, serials, statistics, DVDs and more in a variety of formats.

- Books: 182.474
- Journal titles: 2557. current 437
- Special materials (CDs, DVDs...): 3.112

Every item has a catalogue code (signatura) that is used to identify and locate it within the library

Take for example: D 316.334.3 BOT

- The first letters indicate the collection (In this case D stands for "Depósito" Stacks)
- The numbers represent the subject (316.334.3 Political sociology),
- The last letters refer to the author (BOT: Bottomore, T.B.) or to the title in collective books

Where to find the collections

The holdings are divided into two main collections:

Free Access Collection: Basic bibliography, handbooks and manuals (L), Statistics (E), Reference books (R), working papers (W), films, documentaries (V), Journals (alphabetic order).

Book Stacks Collection: Old and special collections have to be requested at the help desk: (A), (ME), (CD), etc.
